

Join WOBO this Saturday night (5/30 @ 8:30p) at Jack London Square for a social ride with the amazing Speed Vest!

What's better than a social ride on a Saturday night? How about a social ride featuring the Speed Vest, a groundbreaking bike invention and advocacy tool that's part safety vest, part speedometer!

The Speed Vest displays the rider's speed in easy-to-read lighted numbers. As a result, it improves the wearer's visibility to motorists, lets cars know the rider's speed (and when they're slowing), and encourages drivers to think of bikes as vehicles.

Speed Vest inventors Brady Clark and Mykle Hansen will take a break from their booth at this weekend's Maker Faire (in San Mateo) to join us Saturday night! They've invited other bike inventors from the Faire to ride (some who have been building their own Speed Vests), so our cruise will be an armada of highly visible, creatively equipped bikes. Make sure to join us!

WHERE/WHEN: 8:30pm at Broadway & Water St. on Jack London Square (just inside Jack London Sq entrance in front of Barnes & Noble). 8 mile ride, ends at Pacific Coast Brewery (9th & Washington)

BRING: Front and rear lights and a helmet
